(Marchtrenk/Breda, June 23, 2026) TGW Benelux, headquartered in the Dutch city of Breda, celebrates its tenth birthday in June. Its founding in the summer of 2016 marked the beginning of a success story: sustainable development steps, trend-setting showcase projects and satisfied customers make TGW Benelux a strong, future-oriented intralogistics partner.

The Netherlands and Belgium are among the strongest economic regions in Europe, in part due to the ports of Rotterdam and Antwerp. The dynamic growth of eCommerce constitutes an additional central factor driving development.

Market with great potential

TGW Benelux is headquartered in Breda, roughly 90 kilometers south of the Dutch capital of Amsterdam. Representation on this important market – and with it the ability to operate close to the customer – was a central criterium when the unit was founded. The unit is part of the TGW Customer Unit North Europe and forms a strong network of countries together with Great Britain, Sweden and Lithuania. In the Netherlands, 170 highly-qualified experts work for TGW Logistics and cover the entire value added chain: from business development and sales to solutions development and realization to Lifetime Services.

TGW Benelux focuses on the fashion, grocery, industrial & consumer goods, and healthcare industries. The online grocery retailer Picnic, the fashion company stichd, the healthcare specialist Bausch + Lomb and the spare parts expert TVH number among its customers and rely on its expertise and experience.

Grocery expertise

One of the showcase projects already successfully implemented by TGW Benelux is a fulfillment center for the online grocery specialist Picnic in Utrecht, Netherlands. The logistics hub with three temperature zones enables quick and reliable supply of groceries to more than 150,000 families per week, thanks to intelligent automation.

"TGW Benelux has developed into a key player in the industry over the past years, and we are proud of that," says Bart Van Eycken, Regional Manager at TGW Benelux. "We act as a competent partner and accompany our customers on their automation journeys, always keeping the focus on shared success: from planning to realization to support during live operation within the scope of Lifetime Services."
